Announcements

We encourage you to volunteer as a homework case presenter.

It's a great way to share your insight and reflections! You will fill out a form with a few questions about what went well and what was a challenge with your homework. You'll also hear ideas from your colleagues and the hub team.

For reference & note-taking.
Not for distribution.

Homework Presentations - Small Groups

1. Read Chapter 1 pages 5-23.
2. Spend some time reviewing the definition of an intentional teacher at the bottom of page 11.
3. Respond to the “Thought Questions” on page 5 and the Reflection Questions on p. 23.

Homework Presentations - Small Groups

1. What stood out to you in the section about the “intentional teacher”?
2. How does that relate what we discussed about the photos that you shared in session 2 (community connections and relationships)?
3. What are your reflections on Chapter 1?

Large Group Discussion

- What stood out to you in the section about the “intentional teacher”?
- How does that relate to what we discussed about the photos that you shared in session 2?

The 9 Principles of Child Development & Learning: Numbers 1-4 in a Toddler Classroom

Session #4 | March 2, 2023

Didactic Presenter:

Dr. Eric Bucher

The First 4 (of 9) Principles of Child Development and Learning - p. 26

1. Development and learning are dynamic processes that reflect the complex interplay between a child's biological characteristics and the environment, each shaping the others as well as future patterns of growth. (p. 27)

Relationships & The Environment

- Environmental factors impact a child's learning:
 - Cultural practices
 - Social and emotional interactions and responses
 - Physical influences like sleeping habits, nutrition, and exposures

Each domain of child development supports the others.

2. All domains of child development are important and each domain supports and is supported by the others - physical, cognitive, social-emotional, linguistic, approaches to learning. (p. 30)

Interconnected Domains

- “Teaching the whole child”
- Children develop skills and learning competencies across a broad range of developmental domains
- Emphasizes the importance of a curriculum that addresses holistic development (multi-sensory, multi-dimensional experiences)

Play is essential for all children, birth to age 8.

3. Play promotes joyful learning that fosters self-regulation, language, cognitive, and social competencies as well as content knowledge across disciplines. (p. 33)

Play

- Play is how children explore, learn about, and make sense of the world.
- Play and playful learning support the development of self-regulation, executive functioning, collaboration, and thinking skills.

Learning happens in the context of contexts.

4. Although general progressions of development and learning can be identified, variations due to cultural contexts, experiences, and individual differences must be considered. (p. 34)

Multiple factors influence development and learning.

- Teachers must be observant and have a process to document children's ideas, experiences, thoughts, and knowledge.
- These observations help inform educators to plan supports that scaffold learning.

Questions/Reflections

In the chat box, please share...

What are you thinking about commonality, individuality, and context?

What is important to remember?
